

american institute for conservation

Preserving Cultural Heritage

What is conservation? Learn about the preservation of cultural heritage.

About Conservation

Conservation is performed by conservators who work to physically save our cultural heritage. Their work is essential and requires expert knowledge, training, and skills.

www.culturalheritage.org

Conservators help ensure the long-term preservation of the art, objects, and historic sites that compose our shared past.

Conservation isn't only for objects in museums, libraries, and archives. You can care for important items in your life with help from a conservator. Visit our site to learn more about:

- how to find and select a conservator
- current projects in conservation
- becoming a conservator
- our association and foundation
- how you can help save cultural heritage

www.culturalheritage.org

American Institute for Conservation

727 15th St NW, Suite 500
Washington, DC 20005

202.452.9545
info@culturalheritage.org